THE RECENT-TRAUMATIC EPISODE PROTOCOL (EMDR R-TEP)

EMDR has demonstrated effectiveness in treating chronic PTSD and old trauma memories, yet Early EMDR Intervention (EEI) protocols have not received much attention from EMDR researchers or clinicians. It is proposed that EEI, while trauma memories have not yet been integrated, may be used not only to treat acute distress but may also provide a window of opportunity in which a brief intervention, possibly on successive days, could prevent complications & strengthen resilience. Checking for sticking points which can obstruct the Adaptive Information Processing (AIP), the EMDR R-TEP may reduce the sensitization and accumulation of trauma memories. As part of a comprehensive approach to EEI, this workshop presents the Recent Traumatic Episode Protocol (EMDR R-TEP) which is an integrative protocol that incorporates and extends existing protocols within a new conceptual framework, together with additional measures for containment and safety. The EMDR R-TEP will be taught with video case illustrations, live demonstration and a practical application.

Current research is limited to the application of EMDR to trauma-related disorders.

WORKSHOP OBJECTIVES

- Identify the 4 key procedures and concepts of the EMDR R-TEP
- Describe how the EMDR R-TEP integrates previous EEI protocols
- Describe 2 features of the EMDR R-TEP which contribute To safety & containment; the difference between a traumatic event & a Traumatic Episode; and how & when to elicit an Episode Narrative
- Identify Point of Disturbance (PoD) targets non-sequentially
- Recognize the differences between EMD, EMDr & EMDR
- Apply Focused Processing strategies of EMD & EMDr
- Utilize the EMDR R-TEP in clinical practice with reasonable fidelity

MARIA G. MASCIANDARO PsyD

Maria is a psychologist in private practice in NJ. She is an EMDR Institute and a Trauma Recovery/HAP Facilitator. She is a senior trainer of the EMDR Recent Traumatic Episode Protocol having presented it many times across the country. Her interest in trauma treatment developed because of her work with individuals who had been injured on the job. In her private practice she treats individuals coping with the aftermath of numerous types of trauma. Formerly the coordinator of the NJ TRN she is now a member of the team. She is one of the NJ EMDRIA Regional Coordinators. She utilizes hypnosis to help clients develop inner strengths, affect regulation skills, and to deal with chronic and acute illness. She holds consultant status with the American Society of Clinical Hypnosis and EMDRIA. She is also Vice President of the Clinical Hypnosis Society of NJ.
